THE QUEEN'S CORONATION

The Queen's Coronation took place on Tuesday, 2 June 1953 amid great public rejoicing. It was over a year since The Queen's Accession, but the ceremony required many months of planning.

The day - chosen as one likely to be sunny - proved very wet, but the enthusiasm of the crowds gathered in London was undiminished. Spirits were additionally buoyed by the news, announced to the crowds over loudspeakers, that a British expedition under Captain John Hunt had finally conquered Everest. Edmund Hillary, a New Zealander, had been the first to set foot on the summit with his Sherpa, Tenzing Norkhay. Joining in with the crowds celebrating in London were many millions around the UK, Commonwealth and world, since the events were shown on BBC television.

The crowds cheered the procession of guests who made their way to the Abbey in coaches, including visiting heads of state, representatives of Commonwealth countries and members of the Royal Family. Queen Salote of Tonga, braving the rain in an open landau, proved especially popular with the crowds. At just after half past ten, The Queen and The Duke of Edinburgh set out to Westminster Abbey from Buckingham Palace in the Gold State Coach, which was pulled by eight Windsor Greys.

The Queen was the last to arrive at the Abbey at eleven o'clock. She was wearing a diamond diadem, crimson velvet robes trimmed with ermine and bordered with gold lace, and a special Coronation gown incorporating all the floral symbols of the UK and Commonwealth. After The Queen had been acknowledged by all four corners of the Abbey, she made her Coronation Oath.

In the central act of the ceremony, The Queen's rich robes and jewels were lifted off by her Maids of Honour, leaving The Queen wearing a simple linen overdress. The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, anointed The Queen with the holy oil, made to a formula originally devised by Charles I.

On her return journey The Queen carried her Orb and Sceptre, warmly acknowledging the cheering that greeted her. At the Palace The Queen and her family made six appearances on the balcony to greet the cheering crowds and to watch the Royal Air Force fly past. The last appearance was at midnight, after which the crowds in the Mall and around the Palace began to disperse.

At nine o'clock in the evening The Queen made a radio broadcast, in which she thanked her people for their support that day, and declared, 'I have in sincerity pledged myself to your service, as so many of you are pledged to mine. Throughout all my life and with all my heart I shall strive to be worthy of your trust'.

9. Praise My Soul The King of Heaven;

Please join us in singing verses 1 and 5:

Praise my soul, the King of Heaven; To his feet your tribute bring;
Ransomed, healed, restored, forgiven, Evermore His praises sing:
Alleluia, alleluia! Praise the everlasting King.

Angels, help us to adore Him; You behold Him face to face;
Sun and moon, bow down before Him, All who dwell in time and space.
Alleluia, alleluia! Praise with us the God of grace.

10. Processional on "Westminster Abbey"; Robert Wetzler;

Please join us in singing verses 3 and 5:

Christ is made the sure Foundation,
Christ the Head and Cornerstone;
Chosen of the Lord and precious,
Binding all the church in one;
Holy Sion's Help forever, And her Confidence alone.

Laud and honour to the Father,
Laud and honour to the Son,
Laud and honour to the Spirit,
Ever Three and ever one;
One in might and one in glory,
While unending ages run!

12. Jerusalem; C.H. Parry

13. Land of Hope and Glory; Edward Elgar

14. O Canada; Calixa Lavallée;

Please rise and join in verse 1.

O Canada! Our home and native land!
True patriot love in all thy sons command.
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
the True North strong and free!
From far and wide, O Canada,
we stand on guard for thee.

God keep our land glorious and free!
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.

The tragically early death of King George VI and the sudden Accession of Queen Elizabeth II on 6 February 1952 were emotional events which deeply affected people around the UK, Commonwealth and the world. After a period of widespread mourning for the late king, people welcomed the opportunity to rejoice the following year when the 26-year-old Queen Elizabeth was crowned in an ancient ceremony in Westminster Abbey.

A Special Thank You to our featured Musicians:

Paul Klaesi - Solo Trumpet
